HOW DID CALABASAS GET ITS NAME?

Some believe that the area was named by the Chumash tribe from their word meaning "where the wild geese fly. "

To this day, Canada geese still fly over the area annually. Most locals are more attached to the colorful version of the name's legend of 1824, when a Basque rancher from Oxnard spilled a wagon-load of pumpkins on the road en route to Los Angeles. The following spring, hundreds of pumpkin seeds sprouted along the road. The area was named Las Calabasas - the place where the pumpkins fell - after the Spanish word for pumpkin or wild gourd: calabazo.

Let's lift our champagne glasses and toast the future together!
